Charles W. Horner, aged 12, fractured leg, internally injured. Fireman Kelley, of the Reading train, fatally injured.

Conductor Kelly of Pennsylvania train, both legs and arms broken and internally injured.

C. Rynick, Bridgeport, severe bruises. At the second signal tower the tracks of the two roads diagonally cross. The Reading track was given the signal, but the switch either failed to work or the speed of the express was too great to be checked in time. It caught the excursion train broadside and plowed through, literally cleaving it in two. The engine of the Reading train was shattered to pieces.

As soon as the news reached Atlantic City the utmost consternation prevailed. Relief trains were dispatched to the scene, loaded with cots and a force of surgeons. As quick as the bodies were recovered they were carried into the local hospitals. A general firealarm was sounded, and the department promptly responded aiding in the work of digging for the victims.

The first Reading relief train bore into this city twenty-seven mangled corpses—men, women and children. The next train, not an hour later, carried fifteen of the maimed and wounded, and two of these died soon after reaching the city. As train after train ran to the scene of the wreck and came back with the wounded, the sanitarium, which serves as the city hospital, quickly found its capacity overtaxed. Meanwhile others of the dead and injured were being carried to the private hospital at Ocean and Pacific avenues.

Edward Farr, engineer on the Reading train, was killed outright, as was another railroad man who rode on the engine with him. This man, whose name has not yet been learned, saw the collision coming, and leaped from the cab an instant before the crash. Almost at the same instant the engine cut its way through, and caught him directly in its path. His body and that of Farr were found under a heap of debris, but the engineer lay in what remained of the cab, and his right hand still clasped the throttle. The fireman on the train had leaped a few seconds before, and escaped with trifling injuries.

Mrs. Edward Farr, wife of the Reading engineer who was killed, when informed of her husband's tragic end, threw up her hands with a frantic shriek and fell dead at the feet of her informant.

Conductor Kelly of the Pennsylvania train had both legs and arms broken and was internally injured. Albert J. Mosebach of 18 North Eighth street, Philadelphia, was on the Reading train. He escaped unhurt.

The excursion train was made up of fifteen cars, the foremost of which was a baggage car. This and the next two coaches caught the full force of the crash, and were utterly demolished. What remained of the third car was tumbled into a ditch at the roadside.

Responsibility for the accident cannot be fixed. William Thurlow, telegraph operator in the tower house, was arrested and is held, pending an inquiry. It is said that the Reading signal was displayed and that the whistle of the train was sounded. The Reading had the right of way at the crossing.

An Associated press reporter was on one of the first relief trains sent out by the Pennsylvania railroad. The train was in charge of a number of railroad officials and Prosecutor Perry of Atlantic county. It drew up in the darkness a few feet this side of the fatal point. Struggling in and out of ditches and stumbling over masses of broken timber, with only a few lanterns, the rescue gang set bravely to work. Axes and shovels were piled with the greatest vigor, and almost at every half a dozen strokes a mangled form was brought up and laid tenderly on the pallets. It was a terrible task, and the strongest men turned aside, faint from the revelations of the workers.

A heap of blood stained timbers, turned aside by one of the rescuers, brought to sight a woman's arm. It had been wrenched off at the shoulder.

Not five minutes a later a chance blow from a pick revealed a human heart. Scattered about the ground near the wreck were many pieces of clothing which had been torn from the bodies of the victims.

Superintendent I. N. Swiegard of the Philadelphia & Reading Company places the number of dead at thirty-seven and the injured at about the same number. He sent a telegram to Philadelphia, which said: "There were thirty-seven persons killed, as follows: Twelve women, twenty-one men, two boys and two girls. About the same number injured."

The excursion train bore five tribes of the Order of Red Men—the Bridgeport, the Niagara, the Iowa, the Ahwan-tah and the Cohansick—with their wives and children.

Loss Through Hall Will Be Great.

Aberdeen, S. D., July 31.—Later reports of Wednesday evening's hail-storm indicate extensive destruction of crops. The storm started near Ipswich, passing southeast, and completely destroyed the crops in a tract from six to eight miles wide and fifty to sixty miles long. The storm was accompanied by a heavy wind, which drove the hail with terrible force. At Northville and Mellette windows were all broken out on the side next to the storm, and this no doubt is the case over the entire district. Cases of individual losses are not obtainable.

DEATH IN A BLAST THAT SWEEP A CITY

A FATAL STORM NEAR PITTSBURG, PA.

Two Killed and Many Others Injured—Houses Unroofed and Occupants Flee in Terror—Lightning Adds Horror to the Scene—Severe Storm in New York City.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 31.—A rain and wind storm that looked like a snow blizzard visited all the little towns lying between Pittsburg and McKeesport on the Monongahela river Thursday afternoon. Two men were killed, a boy will die and thousands of dollars' worth of property was destroyed.

The most violent effects of the storm were in Duquesne, several miles above Homestead. Five minutes after the first downpour of rain the wind blew forty miles an hour. Forest trees were torn to pieces and a track of ruin 300 feet wide was cut through the woods. Leaping the valley the wind struck the new residence section of Duquesne. The rain was driven with such force that it was impossible to see across the street.

John Foyle's house was struck by lightning. Mrs. Foyle and her two boys were knocked senseless. James, aged 10, was so badly injured he will die. Mrs. Foyle's right side was paralyzed. An 8 months' old babe was also injured.

The Swedish Lutheran church, a frame building, was blown down by the wind. Lightning struck the First national bank and tore out one side of the building. The Kennedy school was the next to be visited by the lightning, and it was badly damaged. The Methodist Episcopal church steeple was struck and torn apart. The roofs of two dwellings near the church were ripped off and carried away by the wind. Hundreds of small trees were torn up and much other damage done.

At Homestead an odd death occurred. John Schuler, a steel worker, was sitting in a cellar drinking beer, with his back against a flue. Three other men were with him. As Schuler raised a glass of beer to his mouth a bolt of lightning struck the house, came down the flue and killed him instantly.

The smoke stacks and sheet iron roofs of the Carnegie mills suffered much damage. Some of the tall stacks were blown down, but no person was injured. Several houses were destroyed.

Leaving Homestead death rode across the river on the wind to Brad-dock. The first thing that went down was the new Congregational church at Sixth and Talbot avenues. The steeple fell over on the rectory, wrecking the building. On the next lot was the old church, recently sold. Part of the rectory fell on it, completely wrecking it. Lightning struck Mrs. James White's house, near the church, and the wind blew off the roof. The home of Mrs. Lizzie Oates in Fourth avenue was struck and one of the occupants so badly injured he is not expected to recover. The roof of M. S. Ely's house was also torn away.

CLOUDBURST IN OHIO.

Two Hundred People Homeless and the Damage Will Reach $200,000. Steubenville, O., July 31.—A severe storm like a cloudburst occurred west of this city Thursday afternoon, and within a period of thirty minutes a mighty torrent of water had spread desolation along both Parmar's and Fisher's runs, in the lower part of this city. No lives were lost, but 200 people are homeless as a result of the flood. The damage will aggregate all of $200,000.

The water came down the creeks twenty feet high, sweeping before the flood barns, houses, bridges, trees and outbuildings. The houses that were washed away and completely wrecked were owned and occupied by the families of Mrs. Philabaum, Robert Ritchie, William Risdon, James Burgess, Andy Albaugh, Benjamin Wise, Grant Stroud, John Hart and Henry B. Bowman's store. The houses of twenty-five others were wrecked or damaged by the water and muddy slime that settled over everything.

Severe Storm at New York City.

New York, July 31.—The intense heat was broken Thursday afternoon by a thunderstorm, accompanied by a heavy rain and hard wind. The memorial arch in Washington square was struck by lightning, and the big marble blocks, weighing several tons each, which form the southwestern section of the capstone of the arch, were forced from their position. Although none of the masonry fell, the block struck was moved six inches. Several people had taken refuge from the storm beneath the arch, and of these three were prostrated by the electric shock. Lightning struck an electric wire of the 3d avenue trolley line in Brooklyn, and Mary O'Connor, aged 7, a passenger, received serious injuries. A hole was burned into her head and the hair around the wound was burned away.

Mills Will Continue Closed.

Fall River, Mass., July 31.—The Wampanoag mills have posted notices that they will continue the shut-down of their factories to Aug. 1, making a total of five weeks. The general sentiment among manufacturers here is in favor of continuing the curtailment longer than the four weeks originally stipulated, as there is no marked improvement in the market.

M'KINLEY SPEAKS OF THE ISSUES

LABORING MEN HEARD THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

"Sound Money" and Protection Declared to Be the Principles of the Republican Party—Bryan Has a Busy Day at Lincoln—Fusion Is Not Favored.

Canton, O., July 31.—Perhaps the most enthusiastic delegation that has yet come to Canton arrived here from Knoxville, a suburb of Pittsburg, Thursday afternoon. They had traveled 100 miles in heat and storm, but were enthusiastic with bands and banners. Their spokesman, John P. Everhard, president of the McKinley and Hobart club and who is also president of the glass workers' union, acted as the spokesman. He put the tariff issue above all others.

After a storm of applause which followed Maj. McKinley's appearance he made his response, saying in part: "The Republican party stands now, as it has always stood, for a sound and stable currency, and for the maintenance of all its money of every kind at parity, and always equal to the best money of the most civilized nations of the earth. A depreciated currency would work disaster to the interests of the people, and to none more than those of the workingmen and producers. Our currency to-day is good—all of it as good as gold—and it is the unfaltering determination of the Republican party to so keep and maintain it forever. It is the duty of the people of this country to stand unitedly against every effort to degrade our currency or debase our credit."

On the question of the tariff he said: "Without discussing the principle of free trade or protection, everybody must appreciate that no law is a settlement which creates every month a deficiency in the public treasury. The people of this country are not satisfied with such an enactment and will not be satisfied until a public law shall express the public will in a statute which will provide adequate revenues for the needs of the government, full security for its credit and ample protection to the labor, capital and energy of the American people."

MAY DECLINE TO FUSE.

Leading Democrats in Doubt as to Their Course.

Washington, July 31.—Prominent silver Democrats here say that it is not the intention of their leaders to attempt fusion with the Populists on presidential electors in any state, with the possible exception of North Carolina, as they believe that concessions to the "middle of the road" Populists, especially in the south, would cost the ticket several straight Democratic votes for every Populist vote so gained. Senators Peffer and Allen, "Jerry" Simpson and other western Populist leaders expect Bryan to get the western Populist vote, no matter what is the outcome of the present tangle, as their constituents are free silver men. Proceeding on this assumption, Senator Jones and other Democratic leaders are left free to plan for a solid south. The general idea is that there will be an adjustment, which will be entirely satisfactory to the western Populists and other ardent silver men, and that the southern "middle of the road" Populists will put up an independent ticket, probably transferring Watson to the head.

While certain prominent silver Democrats are in doubt as to fusion with the Populists on electoral tickets, there are leaders in the silver party who think the problem easy of solution. Dr. J. Mott of North Carolina, ex-chairman of the national committee of the silver party, in referring to the subject, said: "I do not see why there should be any trouble. The party which refuses to fuse in a number of states will be looked upon as standing in the way of silver, and 'will get the worst' of the bargain when the people vote in November. My opinion is that the people of the country of all parties are too earnest and loyal for silver to let a few politicians stand in the way of a union of the silver forces."

STATE COMMITTEE AT LINCOLN.

Silver Democratic Leaders of Nebraska Confer with Mr. Bryan.

Lincoln, Neb., July 31.—The meeting of the state central committee of the free-silver democracy brought a large number of prominent politicians to the city, and Mr. Bryan was kept busy conferring with his friends in his own party and with representative populists, who were invited to attend the meeting. It is claimed that J. Sterling Morton has sanctioned the use of his name as a candidate of the gold democracy for president, and the Morton candidacy was the subject of much informal discussion at the meeting. A close friend of Mr. Bryan, and one of his appointees, said: "I hope Mr. Morton will be nominated. He has aroused a great deal of antagonism in the democratic party in this state, and I think he would poll fewer votes than any other prominent democrat who could be nominated."

Organize the Business Men.

Washington, July 31.—Republican managers believe that one of the most potent influences in the coming campaign will be the business men's clubs, which they propose to organize all over the country. Merchants, manufacturers, bankers, brokers and transportation men will be asked to join, and, while their work will be done across counters in personal arguments with customers, they do not intend to neglect the educational side of the campaign, and will circulate tons of documents different in character from those sent out by the regular campaign committee. The members of these clubs, besides working themselves, will enlist the services of their employees. Several business men's clubs have been formed in the central states, and it is intimated that the largest and most widely extended organization of that kind ever attempted will be in existence and at work by the middle of August.

Carlisle on Free Coinage.

Little Rock, Ark., July 31.—A statement was widely published by the press a few days ago that President G. L. Greene of the Connecticut Life insurance company of Hartford had issued a circular letter to policy holders notifying them that in the event that the government adopted the free coinage of silver the company would be compelled to pay all claims in depreciated silver coin. F. W. Alsop of this city sent a clipping of this statement to Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, with a request for an expression on the subject. He has received a reply from Mr. Carlisle, which is in general a corroboration of Mr. Greene's statement.

To Open State Campaigns.

Topeka, Kas., July 31.—Cyrus Lealand, Jr., chairman of the republican state central committee, wires from Chicago that Senator John M. Thurston has consented to open the republican campaign in Kansas with an address to the republican state convention in Topeka August 12. Negotiations are also in progress to secure Senator Foraker of Ohio for one of these days. Youngstown, O., July 31.—The democratic county executive committee decided to open the campaign, and have announced William J. Bryan as their opening card. The campaign opens September 4.

Indiana Gold Men Organize.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 31.—The gold democrats are rapidly perfecting the organization of the state. At a meeting of the "Sound Money" league of the party Thursday S. O. Pickens of this city was elected chairman of the state committee. The committee, composed of one member from each congressional district, was appointed, but the names will not be made public until the chairman has received from each member the assurance that he will serve. It is the intention to put a state ticket in the field not later than the middle of September.

Sewall Proposes to Run.

Bath, Me., July 31.—Mr. Arthur Sewall, democratic nominee for vice-president, referring to a story that he intended to resign in favor of Mr. Watson, said: "Any man who for a moment entertains such an idea is not worthy of an answer. I do not know whether Bryan will retain a place on the populist ticket. He will come to Bath with Mrs. Bryan directly after the notification in New York. They will make their headquarters at my house while in Maine."

Work in West Virginia.

Huntington, W. Va., July 31.—Judge H. C. Simms of Huntington will represent West Virginia at the Indianapolis gold men's national conference. This was decided at the meeting at Wheeling. The floods swept away the railroad track in front of Gov. McCorkle's train, and he was unable to be present. It was accepted, however, that the governor will lead in the fight against Bryan and McKinley after a nomination has been made by the national democrats.

St. John Selects Headquarters.

New York, July 31.—The treasurer's office of the democratic and national silver parties has been established in the Hotel Bartholdi, Twenty-third street and Broadway. It is authoritatively announced that the national headquarters of the silver people will not be in this city, but probably in Washington or Chicago.

To Organize in Missouri.

Mexico, Mo., July 31.—The gold democrats met here and took steps toward organization. It was decided to send delegates to the state conference and to issue an address to the public.

Populists for Fusion.

Fargo, N. D., July 31.—In the populist convention Thursday the report submitted last night by the fusion committee to decide upon officers between populists and democrats was adopted.

Illinois Fireman Breaks a Record.

Naperville, Ill., July 31.—The tournament of Illinois firemen for 1896 closed Thursday evening. The state championship couplers' contest was the feature of the day. It was a run of fifty feet, break couplings, two turns, and attach pipe, two turns. Of a number of couples, Naperville's man, Chas. Boettger, tied with Sheffield's, Harry Booth, each making 4-5 seconds. They tied again, strange as it may seem, and made the unprecedented time of 4-1-5 seconds. A third tie was run off, Booth dropping to 5-2-5 and Boettger to 5 seconds. The crowd went wild over Boettger's record, which beat Beaver's

CAUCUSES TONIGHT TO TELL THE TALE

CREAM CITY PRIMARIES SET-TLE THE THING.

The Republican Nomination For Governor Depends Largely On the Result of Tonight's Battle at Milwaukee, the Politicians Say—Elliott, La Follette or Schofield?

Milwaukee, Wis., July 31.—The fight for the republican nomination for governor depends in a great measure on the result of the caucuses which are to be held in this city to-night. The man who gets the largest showing will have a decided advantage, and the contest will be one of the sharpest ever fought in this county under the caucus law. Elliott claims that he will have a majority of the delegates, but the showing that LaFollette has made, coupled with the fact that Schofield now needs Milwaukee delegates very much, will probably result in weakening him.

Strikers Burn an Indiana Mine.

Sullivan, Ind., July 31.—Mining troubles in this county culminated in the burning of the old Pittsburg Coal Company's mine at Hymeria Thursday morning at 2 o'clock. A committee of strikers from Linton and Dugger visited the mine Wednesday and tried to induce the men to strike. The committee offered no violence, nor did they indulge in any threats, but the men refused to quit. Early next morning the watchman at the mine was held up at the point of revolvers in the hands of a crowd of determined men and carried off some distance, while the others set fire to the buildings, which were entirely consumed. The plant was one of the most finely equipped in the coal regions, being operated by electrical machines. It cost $40,000 or $50,000 and was owned by Chicago men.

Must Not Aid Cuba.

Washington, July 31.—The president has issued a proclamation, bearing date of July 27, again commanding citizens to observe neutrality toward Cuba. The proclamation refers to the original proclamation of June 12, 1895, demanding an observance of the neutrality laws in respect of the Cuban insurrection, and gives notice that all violations will be vigorously prosecuted. The president cites the decision of the supreme court in the Wiberg case, construing the statutes relative to military expeditions, conspiracies and the extension of aid by furnishing transportation, in order that citizens may not be misled as to the meaning of the neutrality laws.

Fatal Explosion of an Engine.

Traverse City, Mich., July 31.—A terrible explosion occurred Wednesday in the shingle mill of Sullivan & Whitman at Cedar, about ten miles from this city. Walter Scott, the engineer, was so mangled that he died in two hours. Ernest Merrifield, John Clegg, William Sturgis, Charles Channer and John Peterson were badly scalded and wounded by the flying metal and five others were slightly injured. The engine was shattered to pieces and two boilers wrecked. The loss will reach $3,000.

Denies Bond-Issue Story.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., July 31.—President Cleveland, in an interview said there was no truth in the statement which it is alleged he made to a New York financier regarding a bond issue in December, or at least before the close of his administration. Beyond making a denial the President had nothing to say.

Veterans for McKinley.

Canton, July 31.—The R. B. Hayes club of the Twenty-third regiment, O. V. I., will visit Major McKinley Aug. 3. This club is composed of survivors of McKinley's old regiment and the membership is general throughout the state, but a large number live in Cleveland.

LITTLE CHANGE IN LEAF MARKET

Considerable Riding Is Being Done—The Transactions Reported.

There is but little change in local tobacco market conditions, says The Leaf. Throughout the county there is considerable riding being done by a few dealers who are picking up all they can get at figures that have prevailed during the past few months. The larger part of the buying is being done in the northern part of the county, where there are yet some large lots held by the farmers. Among the larger transactions reported are 250 cases of '93 and '94 purchased and 150 cases sold by F. S. Baines; and 40 cases '93 and '94 bought by A. N. Jones. Geo. H. Rumrill has purchased 75 cases of Janes Lyons, including three years' growth; 17 cases of '92 of M. Kirk and 10 cases of '92 of Mr. Byers. Rudolph, Haviland & Son report another good week for small lots.

One of the worst storms of the season struck this county Sunday evening, passing from north-west to south-west and the accompanying hail and wind did considerable damage.

Rudolph, Haviland & Son, started up a small force on strip stock this week.

TO TRY SLITER'S CASE AGAIN

Beloit Jury Could Not Agree As to His Guilt

The jury disagreed in the liquor case of the state against J. Sliter, and District Attorney Jackson will have to try the case over again. Peter P. Murray, a citizen of the Line City purchased liquor at the saloon of J. Sliter while he was in an intoxicated condition. Complaint was made against Sliter by Mrs. Murray, who testified that she saw her husband in an intoxicated condition in the act of drinking beer in Sliter's saloon on July 21. Officer Schiebel swore that he saw Murray come out of the saloon on the occasion in question and that Murray was staggering drunk. Murray himself testified that he was intoxicated and bought beer of Sliter. The jury, however, was unable to agree. District Attorney Jackson opened the case and being called to Janesville, City Attorney Rood conducted the prosecution to the close of the case. S. W. Menzie represented the defendant.

Delmont won a heat. Ringing Bells, who was beaten here by Rusie Clay, turned the tables at Freeport yesterday, and beat Rusie in straight heats. 2:13 was the best time made.

COULDN'T AFFORD TO JOIN UNION

Local Brewery Employee Talks of the Proposed Scheme.

Some of the employees of the local breweries will not join the Federal union. One of the workmen stated this morning that he would like to join the union, but seeing that he had a family to support and that his wages amounted to but $10 a month he didn't see how he could afford to join any society, no matter how small the dues were.

CROWD AT MILTON TO SEE THE GAME

MANY JANESVILLE PEOPLE AT THE COLLEGE VILLAGE.

Contest Between the Y. M. C. A. and Milton Nines the Drawing Card, and the Latter Aggregation Came Out Ahead—The People Who Were There.

Janesville was well represented yesterday afternoon, at Milton, the attraction being a ball game between the Janesville Y. M. C. A. team and the Milton club. Both teams on entering the field, were greeted with cheers by the audience of 500 people, one half of the number being ladies. In the first inning the Milton boys led off with five runs and Janesville boys became aware of the fact that if they intended to be "in it", they must get down to business. From that time on it was a close and interesting game.

Brown Fleek's Running Catch.

Brown Fleek, who played center field for the Janesville team, made a running catch that was one of the features of the game, while Henry Carpenter, who happened to be stationed in the "ladies' corner," was so well thought of that he was presented with a handsome bouquet of wild flowers by two Milton belles.

Cal. Broughton, of Evansville, umpired the game to the satisfaction of all, while Tommy Sullivan, of this city played with the Milton team and did his share towards defeating the Janesville boys.

Before the return game is played in this city, the home team will no doubt spend their spare moments in practice as the Milton team is composed to ball players and no mistake.

Score of the Players.

The score was 9 to 5 in favor of Milton. The teams played as follows:

Miltons.	Position.	Janesville.
Akin	C.	Janesville
Rice	P.	Blakely
Wilbur	S.	Sheldon
Holmes	1b.	Dixon
Sullivan	2b.	Brewer
Green	3b.	Johnson
Bullis	S.	Skelly
Van de Water	C.	Fleek
Placed	1b.	Carpenter

Many Janesvillians Present

No ball game at a neighboring village, ever drew such a crowd. The Bower City was well represented, the greater part of those in attendance making the trip on their wheels. Among those present were:

Edwin Williamson,	B. L. Watt,
James Haggart,	Charles Stanton,

Milton People Pleased.

Milton, July 31—The best game of ball played here this season, occurred Thursday afternoon between the Y. M. C. A. team and "Crumb's" Milton nine. The visitors brought up a good sized crowd of "rooters," but they had little opportunity to do any work, the score being 9 to 5 in favor of the home team. The victory is all the more creditable, because the Milton boys had never played together before, and lacked team practice.

Batteries—Milton, Rice and Aiken. Y. M. C. A., Blakely and Carl.

Strikes—By Rice 11, by Blakely 3. Bases on balls—Blakely 3, Rice 3. Double plays—Milton 1, Y. M. C. A. 1. Umpire—Cal. Broughton.

ORCHESTRA WAS OUT SERENADING

Prof. John Smith Called On Friends Early this Morning.

Prof. John M. Smith's singing quartette orchestra, went on a serenading tour after the dance at Columbia hall early this morning, and awoke a number of their friends with pleasing strains. The members were Prof. John M. Smith, violin; A. L. Kneff, cornet; Joseph Mahaney, trombone and George L. Hatch, harp. They rendered both vocal and instrumental selections in turn, and then sang as they played, their voices blending very harmoniously with the instruments. The occasion was in the nature of a "farewell" before the orchestra leaves for Oconomowoc to play at Draper hall, for the balance of the season. Dr. Joe Whiting accompanied the orchestra on their trip this morning.

"CON" M'DONALD MAY RUN A HOTEL

The Janesville Man Not Likely to Open Another Restaurant

"Con" McDonald will probably not engage in the restaurant business in this city again, but that is not saying that he may not be the landlord of a local hotel in the near future. The furnishings of the restaurant have been put on the market, and will be sold at private sale, for it is thought that more could be realized in that way than by selling them at auction.

HOT WEATHER DYSPESIA.

Thousands Suffer From It at This Season of the Year.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, costiveness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "cathartics," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used whenever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared only for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. Harlandson, Dr. Jennison, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which have time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of the mischief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequalled for invalids, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. It is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all the druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Landlord of the Clear Lake Hotel and a Child Hurt.

An accident that bid fair to be of a very serious nature, occurred at Milton Junction yesterday afternoon. Landlord Atkin, of the Clear Lake hotel, was at the Junction, on a business trip, driving a horse that he had but recently purchased. In turning around, the buggy was upset, throwing him out. Three little girls, who were with him, were also thrown to the ground. Mr. Atkin was landed with such force, as to break one of his ribs, besides receiving painful bruises, while one of the little girls was badly cut. She was taken into a near-by bakery and Dr. Hull was called to dress the injuries.

SICK-POISON.

WHAT IT IS, AND WHERE IT COMES FROM.

Sick-poison is what makes you sick, irritates your nerves, disorders your functions, saps your strength, makes you miserable.

Different diseases have different poisons, some have several, indigestion more than any.

That is, the symptoms of indigestion are caused by the poisons which are created by undigested food.

When you are sick, try to get rid of your poison.

It is often easier than you think, for all nature is helping you. Only the poison is obstinate, but the first step is to go to the root of it.

The poisons of undigested food, which cause lethargy, headache, dizziness, weakness, bad taste, stomachache, fever, flatulence, nausea, constipation, loss of appetite, jaundice, anemia, neuralgia, rheumatism, etc., these poisons can be swept away and annihilated by the Shaker Digestive Cordial.

Curing the stomach and helping it to digest food, when it is too weak to do so by itself, will purify your system of poison and renew your strength and health.

Shaker Digestive Cordial, a pure, vegetable, digestive tonic, made by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, will cure all disorders caused by the poisons of undigested food when nothing else will give any relief.

Sold by druggists. Ten cents for a trial bottle.

Write for a book on food. Address The Shakers, 30 Beale Street, New York.

A. J. Dodge Writes of Politics In Rock County.

LIVELY CONTEST FOR THE STATE SENATORSHIP.

Mr. Cooper to Be Renominated As Congressman Without Opposition,
Farmers Enthusiastically Supporting La Follette For Governor—Gold Democrats Very Much In Earnest In Demanding the Nomination of Another Ticket—Some Financial Interviews.

A. J. Dodge, the Washington correspondent, to The Milwaukee Sentinel, was in the city a few days ago,
and as a result of his visit, the following article on Rock county politics appears in this morning's issue:
Janesville, Wis., July 30.—The farmers of Rock county are enthusiastic in their support of the candidacy of LaFollette for governor. The Second Assembly district convention held here yesterday brought to town
a delegation from Edgerton Evansville and the tobacco growing towns
of the north section of the county.
The record made by Mr. LaFollette
while in congress, in favor of protective duties on tobacco, and the good prices for the American leaf-tobacco product which followed that legislation make the tobacco growers solid for the Dane county candidate. The delegates came in here and voted for him to a man and instructed their representatives in the republican state convention to work and vote for him. Instructions for delegations is rather a new thing in Rock county politics, and some objection is offered to such a plan even by the outspoken LaFollette men in this town. The First Assembly convention will be held here tomorrow and while it will undoubtedly be for LaFollette, it is not absolutely certain that the delegation will be instructed, although the unanimity with which the Second District convention passed such resolutions may have the effect of bringing about such action here. Opinions are divided in this town as to the probable outcome of the Third Assembly convention, which will be held in Beloit, on Saturday, but the LaFollette men claim that a majority of the delegates from that district will certainly favor their man, which will insure Rock county practically solid for the Dane county candidate.
On the other hand the friends of Schofield say that much hard work has been done for him, especially in Beloit which should give a majority of that district to him.

A Lively Senatorial Contest
So far as this section of the country
is concerned, the sentiment is undoubtedly for LaFollette, and the leading republicans are active in supporting his candidacy. This was demonstrated at the recent primaries,
which were participated in by old wheel-horses of the party here, some of whom had been classed as sure-enough Schofield men. But the contest over the governorship is rather tame for the reason that practically no fight was made against the La Follette movement, particularly as compared with the contest over the county ticket nominations, and the rivalry between the friends of candidates for the state senatorship in this senatorial district. This contest appears to be in no way mixed up with the gubernatorial fight. Both the candidates for the senatorship evidently acquiesce in the movement for LaFollette. Early last spring J. M.
Whitehead announced his candidacy for the senate. He has been making a vigorous campaign throughout the rural sections, which comprise the major portion of the district. Mr.
Whitehead claims a large majority of the delegates thus far elected. About the time he was proceeding to pocket
the nomination, M. G. Jeffris, a brother attorney, appeared upon the scene with a declaration that he would like the senatorial nomination himself. Mr. Jeffris is well known in the politics of the First Congressional district and southern Wisconsin generally. He is a lively campaigner.
Janesville's leading republicans say
the fight will be a pretty one, as Whitehead has a good start in the race and is working with great industry.

The Silver Sentiment and Gold Democrats.
As to general politics in Rock county, the best informed among the leaders of both parties regard the county as quite as solidly republican as usual. Reports of free silver sentiment among the farmers are said to be not entirely confined to democrats
who have swallowed the Bryan ticket,
free silver and all. The silver sentiment is confined to the southern part of the county, and among farmers who are so staunchly republican as to be likely to yield to argument when
the campaign is opened in earnest.
The republican leaders say that there is a field for active educational work
among the farmers of this section.
The gold democrats are in earnest
and more numerous than is generally supposed. The action of John Winans, the veteran democrat, in coming out in a letter, agreeing to support the Bryan ticket was a surprise to the staunch old democrats of the town.
The only explanation that is offered for Winans' action is the idea that he has been cut by the Vilas democrats in the state in the past and he is now

willing to train on a side in opposition to them, even if he cannot consistently occupy that position so far as the money question is concerned. Leading gold democrats here do not hesitate to pronounce the letter announcing his allegiance to the Bryan ticket as the weakest thing John Winans ever did,
and one veteran democrat went so far as to call it puerile. The list of gold standard democrats here is a large one. George G. Sutherland, one of the ablest and foremost men of the party, declares that the democrats
here are practically divided evenly on the question of supporting the Bryan ticket. Some of the foremost democrats have already been quoted by The Sentinel, such as D. D. Mayne, Archibald Reid, A. M. Valentine and J. P.
Baker. There are many others including merchants who decline to define their position in the newspapers.
But among the outspoken repudiators
of the Bryan ticket are Dr. J. B.
Whiting, George G. Sutherland and F.
C. Hazelton.

Leaders Solidly Against Bryan.
Mr. Sutherland said: "I will not support the platform or ticket of the Chicago convention. I am not only opposed to the free coinage of silver,
but to the populist doctrine set forth in the platform. I believe that fully one-half of the democrats of this section will decline to support the Bryan ticket."
"The Sentinel failed to quote me
correctly in a recent interview," said Dr. J. B. Whiting, one of the veteran democrats of the town. "I was made to say that I was opposed to the nomination of a gold standard democratic ticket. That is incorrect. I favor such a ticket, and I believe it is the duty of the leaders of our party to give us a ticket and platform that genuine democrats who do not endorse populism and anarchy, can support.
I cannot vote for McKinley, and if we do not have a gold standard democratic ticket in the field, I shall not vote for presidential electors. I cannot vote for a president whose administration would be controlled by populists, and the dangerous Altgeld influences."
"I am a gold standard democrat,"
said F. C. Hazelton, insurance agent and active young democrat, the last candidate of his party here for city
treasurer. "I will not vote the Bryan ticket."

The fact is that the records show that the substantial farmers of Rock county were never advocates of "cheap money." In the famous greenback campaign of 1877, when the issue was made as it is today, that we should have more and cheaper money in order to raise the prices of agricultural products, the farmers of Rock county voted solidly against such unsound financial doctrines. Out of a vote of 5,000 cast in the county in 1877, only 720 were cast for Alins, the greenback candidate, and in this town out of nearly 1,500 votes, only thirty-eight were cast for the "cheap money" candidate. In the southern section of the county, where the free silver sentiment is now said to be strongest, the
"cheap money" had more popular,
and the greenback candidate received
twice the number of votes in Beloit
that were cast for the democratic candidate. But in the prosperous agricultural town of Milton, out of nearly 300 votes cast, only one was given to the "cheap money" candidate.

No Reason for "Cheap Money" Sentiment
Here.

When one examines into the existing conditions in this section nothing is developed to warrant the belief that the people will vote for repudiation
and a debasement of the money standard of the nation. Rock county has a population of 48,000, about equally divided between the agricultural and city and village population. There are about 10,000 voters in the county divided equally between farmers and townspeople. The agricultural sections of the county were solidly republican at the last election on the issue
of protection, and large majorities
were thrown for the republican ticket in the cities and towns. Prices of farm products have been low
during the past two or three years
of depression, and the mills and factories in this thriving manufacturing town are now either closed or running on short time. The wage rates are about 10 per cent. lower than they were in the prosperous times previous to 1893. But even now, after the bank runs in the temporary convulsion of 1893, the banks of this town
hold nearly a million dollars in cash, $950,000 in round numbers, 55 per cent. of which belongs to farmers and workmen. This is not a fair representation, however, of the surplus cash holdings of the farmers of Rock county for the reason that the banks
here do not pay interest upon certificates of deposit, and the farmers have sought other channels for loans. It will be seen, therefore, that the proposition for reducing the purchasing power of a dollar would fall heavily upon the workmen and farmers of this section as elsewhere.

Evidence is not wanting, aside from the general air of thrift that pervades
the agricultural portions of the country to demonstrate that during the prosperous time from 1870 to 1893, years when the country was as now on the gold basis, that the producing classes in this section were successful and that instead of farm values declining they rose. The complaint of the "clamorous shriek"
about the gold standard reducing the value of farm lands finds no proof in this rich agricultural section of Wisconsin. As an average value of farm lands in the town of Clinton in 1876 was $35 an acre and in 1895 it was $47 an acre, and the average value of 400,000 acres of farm land improved

and unimproved, in the county in 1895 was $43 an acre.

All Will Be For Cooper.
Rock county is one of the principal counties in the First congressional district, now represented by H. A. Cooper, of Racine. In previous campaigns
preliminary to the nominating convention, Rock county republicans have presented a candidate from among them for congressional honors. It will be all one way for Hal. Cooper this time, and the congressional convention to be held in Beloit next week will renominate Mr. Cooper by acclamation. The sentiment is all for Mr.
Cooper in this section, and he has grown in popularity and strength
during the past two years. Up to this time there is little talk among the democrats in regard to a candidate in opposition to Mr. Cooper.
The gold democrats are waiting to see the silver faction show its hand. The convention to elect delegates to the democratic state convention has been called for the second week in August,
and upon the result of that convention
and the action of the state convention
on the money question, will depend
the attitude of several prominent democrats with reference to the congressional nomination.
"Clint" Babbitt's Latest Ambition
The storm center of democratic free
silver coinage in Rock county is located under the broad rimmed hat of ex-congressman Clinton Babbitt. Mr.
Babbitt was elected to congress from this district six years ago by an accident which the people will guard against in the future. So Mr. Babbitt is not a candidate for congress now.
He can produce many kinds of reasons
why a "farmer free silver democrat"
should be nominated for the governor-ship. His friends point out that free silver and populism do not seek representation in the executive office
through lawyers like Silverthorn, of Wausau, or George W. Bird, of Madison. Upon this issue Mr. Babbitt is around, feeling the pulse of the farmers and inquiring how many of them
would be willing to join the free silver and populist combination in a raid upon the honest money standard of the government, and the obligation of contract, and at the same time assist in galvanizing "Clint" Babbitt back into political life. A. J. D.

FIRST DISTRICT DELEGATES TO MILWAUKEE.

Convention Tables Resolutions For and Against Instructions and Votes to "Recommend" That All Honorable
Means Be Used to Advance the Madison Man's Cause.

The state and congressional delegations from the First Assembly district were made up today.
The convention was called to order
by T. W. Goldin. O. F. Nowlan was made chairman and U. G. Waite secretary. The list of delegates as published in The Gazette was accepted
in place of the report of the committee on credentials.

Delegates to the congressional convention in Beloit, Aug. 4, were named as follows: W. F. Carle, O. F. Nowlan, J. L. Bear, Milo Curtis, B. H.
Baldwin and George R. Barker.

When it came to the selection of delegates to the state convention
there was a brief debate. F. L.
Clemons offered a resolution providing that each ward name one delegate
and that the three towns name the other. C. W. Stark offered an amendment that Janesville as a whole select four delegates and the town select
two. H. S. Sloan spoke in support of the amendment against the splitting
the city in five parts when the delegates were supposed to be chosen from the convention as a whole.

Mr. Clemons spoke for the original resolution, and his plan was adopted. The delegates nominated were: W. W. Porter, F. L. Clemons, Dr. E. D. Roberts, E. J. Green, George
Rumrill and C. W. Stark.

Asked For an Instructed Delegation.
I. C. Brownell moved that the delegates to Milwaukee be instructed to use all honorable means and to cast their ballots for Robert M. La Follette.

W. F. Carle offered this as an amendment:

"That the delegates elected to the state convention to be held in Milwaukee, be requested
not to go in the interest of any one candidate for governor and not to decide whom they will support until after arriving in Milwaukee and after holding a consultation with the balance of the delegates to that convention from this county, and also to try and unite with all the delegates from this county on one man so that the vote of the county may be given as a unit."

T. S. Nolan, F. L. Clemons, George
Rumrill, I. C. Brownell and C. W.
Stark spoke for the instructions and
W. F. Carle, H. S. Sloan, O. F. Nowlan and E. J. Green urged the original resolution of sending a delegation with hands tied. Those who supported the Brownell resolution, asked that it be adopted for its effect in the state at large. Supporters of the Carle amendment held that an instructed delegation would be shorn of half its influence. Both the amendment and the resolution were tabled on motion of S. B. Hedges, after some deft parliamentary sparring.

A Compromise Resolution.
The subject was disposed of finally
by a compromise resolution "recommending" instead of "instructing." It read:

WHEREAS, Hon. Robert M. La Follette, whose
high personal character, splendid public services and conspicuous ability, have endeared him to all true republicans, is a candidate for the nomination of governor of Wisconsin; therefore

RESOLVED, By the republicans of the First assembly district of Rock county in convention assembled, that the delegates from said district
be recommended to use all honorable methods
to secure the nomination of Hon. Robert M.
La Follette for governor.

Chairman Nowlan appointed an assembly district committee consisting of T. S. Nolan, C. W. Stark and Milo
H. Curtis.

ILLITERACY IN THE NATION.
Percentage Now Greater in New England Than in the West.

From the Minneapolis Times: The report of the commissioner of education presents some curious and interesting facts with regard to illiteracy in the United States. This information is derived mainly from official records and deserves careful attention. It appears that the number of persons over 10 years of age who can not read and write is 6,324,702, or 13.3 per cent of the total population, according to the latest statistics. In 1850, the rate of illiteracy was 17 per cent, and a decrease of 3.7 per cent since that time is gratifying in the sense that implies gradual improvement, but the situation is still lamentable, and no good citizen can contemplate it without experiencing a certain degree of humiliation.

The government is based upon the idea of popular intelligence as an assurance of political safety and prosperity, and vast sums of money are expended for educational purposes. There is really no excuse for ignorance in a country where free schools abound and instruction is within easy reach of all classes. Nevertheless, over thirteen out of every 100 of the people are unable to read and write. This great army of illiteracy is a standing reproach as well as a menace, and there is no more important duty than that of reducing it as rapidly as possible.

There was a time when New England led all the rest of the country in the general average of popular intelligence, but this is no longer true. It is now in the west, and not in the east, that the best showing is made of the education of the masses. Nebraska stands at the head of the states in point of literacy, only 3.1 per cent of its population being unable to read and write. No state west of the Mississippi river, with the exception of the four southern states, ranks as low as Massachusetts in the number of illiterates in its population. This means, of course, and the fact is a very significant one—that a large percentage of the educated element of the east has removed to the west, thereby materially modifying its "wild and woolly" condition, and it means furthermore that the west has been doing a great deal in the enlargement of its educational facilities.

The public schools of such states as Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas are equal in every respect to those of any of the eastern states, and their academies and universities are rendering effective service in the sphere of higher learning. So far as the south is concerned, allowance must be made for the presence of the colored race, the illiterate members of which constitute nearly one-half of the total number of illiterates in the United States, but even with this serious drawback, the southern states are making substantial gains in education, and the conditions promise an acceleration of such progress from year to year.

A Funny Story.
Miss Kingsley, the famous African traveler, in an interview with the representative of an English paper tells the following amusing story about an adventure with a hippopotamus:
"We were going down a river in a boat," she said, "when we saw ahead of us a herd of hippos, and I, being nervous, asked my guide if the animals were dangerous in this country."
"Sometimes they are, ma'am, and sometimes they're not; you can't tell till you're past 'em," said he.

"We went on and just as I thought 'saved!' one came under the boat and we were in the water. I always go conscientiously to the bottom and when I returned to the surface I saw our crew making for the bank and heard a voice saying: 'Do you happen to survive, ma'am?' 'Temporarily,' said I. 'Then hang on to the canoe.' 'I am,' said I; 'hang yourself,' and he hung. I suggested the bank. 'No,' said he, 'not yet; wait till the canoe carries us past the land. If they can get a foothold they'll stamp you down. They can't do much in deep water.' But the worst of floating along like this is, the chances are a crocodile will come along and sample your legs."—New York Recorder.

THE pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Constipation stops digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping. Send 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and receive free a copy of Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is a right way to advertise any business, and it is comparatively easy to find this right way. There need be no unreasonable chances taken. The advertiser's problem is simply to get its story before the people who are likely to be interested—simply a plain, straightforward statement of what he wishes to do for them. To be sure it requires thought and judgment to do this in the right way, but no more than any other department of a business.

"CONSIDERING."

There Were Some Drawbacks to Her Generally Good Health.

Mrs. Parlin had reached the age of 63 years, and her two daughters, who were of nearly 60, were often led to say that the old woman "took much comfort as anybody," says the "Companion." Their unchangeable affection failed to see the changes that were so pathetically apparent to others.

"Juno Ann and I don't get about much as we would like to, on account of mother," Mrs. Patten remarked, in response to an invitation to visit a relative in a neighboring town. "You see Juno Ann, living next door as she does, takes about as much care of mother as I do, so it sort of ties us up."

"Isn't your mother well?"

"Yes, land sakes, mother's as well as I be; or she would be if twa'n't for her age. I tell 'em mother enjoys as much as most of them. She can't see well as she used to, of course; fact she can't see much of any; but she's all well."

"Mother don't seem to hear so well she did," ventured Juno Ann, "but I suppose that's no more than natural." "She's a dreadful smart woman, if she is my mother," returned Mrs. Patten; "and it's wonderful for a woman her age."

"I suppose she enjoys going about to the neighbors," suggested the visitor.

"Pity sake! Mother hasn't set foot out of the house for more'n two years; she wouldn't dare trust her. The rheumatism has sort of crippled her up but besides that I don't see but she seems out as smart as ever; don't you think she does, Juno Ann?"

"Yes, she seems real well, considering her age. Her food don't agree with her and she doesn't relish her meals as well as she might but beyond that she gets along real well," replied Juno.

"I suppose she likes to have people in and visit with her as well as ever," remarked the visitor.

"Well, she would like to see people as well as ever, mother would, if she had her faculties; but, you see, she doesn't seem to sense much, most of the time; if it wa'n't for that she'd take sight of comfort seeing folks. But she's able to sit up in bed considerable and she seems comfortable except when her rheumatism sets in or when she has one of her sinking spells. Juno Ann and I are real thankful that mother keeps up as well as she does."

VAULTS UNDER THE LOUVRE.

Have There Been Changes There as Recently as 1830?

Every one who has "done" the Louvre will remember the low pitched and somewhat gloomy halls in which were stored the treasures of Egypt, says the London Chronicle.

Beneath these lie yet more darkly mysterious vaults, inaccessible to the public, though approached by a wide and handsome staircase, such as would lead one to imagine that it communicated with apartments of some importance. Yet one finds at the bottom nothing but broad passages disposed in the form of a cross, and without any sign whatever of door or window. A recent examination, however, of the solid stone walls gives experts reason to believe that in this, the oldest portion of the fortress palace, the masonry is more recent than the rest of the structure. M. Vaugneux, a well known critic, believes that many of the bodies of victims killed in the revolution of 1830 were immured here and that the government was afraid to reveal the fact when the remains of their comrades were collected beneath the Colonne de Juillet. On the other hand, M. Blondet, the architect of the building, and M. Normand, the secretary of the Society for Protecting Parisian Monuments, hold the opinion that these subterranean passages lead to the oubliettes into which Catherine de Medicis cast those who were unfortunate enough to incur her hate or fear. A judicious exploration would clear up the matter and settle, too, several doubtful points as to the foundations of Lescot's original citadel. Unfortunately, the annual grant does not provide for any such archaeological research, and it would be necessary to appeal for funds to the generosity of the chamber.

Haunts of Pirates.

Pirates, until recently, always frequented the coast of China, and till 1876 they continued among the Sulu group of 162 islands, which are scattered between Borneo and the Philippine islands, away to the northeast, in the East Indian archipelago, with a total area of 948 square miles and 5,000 inhabitants, who are Malays by race and Mohammedans in religion. These bold pirates were the terror of the seas, though they rarely attacked European ships, but generally the trading schooners manned by Malays. Every year these Ladrones visited some part of that archipelago, robbing, destroying, killing or capturing all whom they met with. The Ladrones islands in those eastern seas are named after them. Their vessels, called praus or praws, were open boats about 10 feet long, 12 feet wide and 4 feet deep. They used a swivel by which they threw a one-pound ball; but their usual plan of attack was to throw themselves in overpowering numbers on board their prey. The Dutch and British were the only Europeans who did something to suppress this piracy; but in 1876 the Spaniards did so by taking possession of these islands—exchange.

Failure.

Lack of sympathy and co-operation causes many a good man to fail. Sometimes it is a lack of adaptation. Again, it may be incompetency, or it may be laziness.—Rev. Clark Davis.

TO IMPROVE LONDON.

What Is Necessary—Seems a Long Way Off.

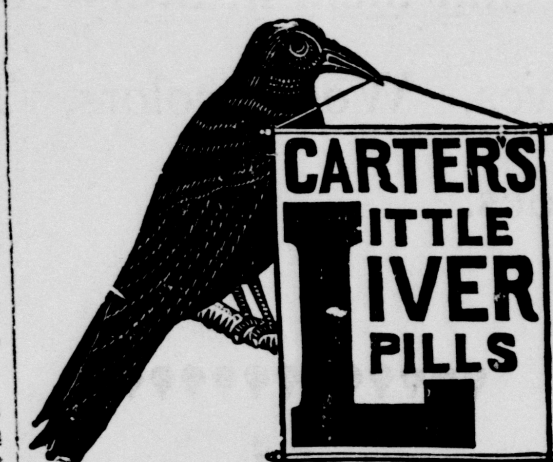

If London is to be improved and beautified, the work must be begun on individuals, in their clear perception and their homely cultivation of abundant grace of form and dress, says the Quarterly Review. The sentiment of excellence in these respects must be continually exercised; since those who make themselves exhibits only for the milliner and tailor are not likely to be capable of public demonstrations of artistic beauty. For a people to become imbued with dignified aesthetic feeling they must be artificers in their own physical development and clothing. The Athenians made nobility and grace of form and dress a cult; and our old mediaeval masons were most careful to have handsome clothes of state in supplement to wages. Kings and hierarchies then made the workmen's garb a model for their own attire. But now the working class, to whom the modern fashions gradually descend, are totally demoralized; and so there is no check to demonstrations of depravity, no rational example for reform in dress and no desire for improvement. Individual culture of externals is the surest impulse and foundation for all national art, and yet there is a constant waste of money on the worthless whimsies of dull manufacturers, who prepare the patterns to be chosen by the buyers at large warehouses. These tradesmen having made some mere fortuitous selection then assert that this production of their folly is "the fashion"; and the sympathetically foolish, thus devoid of individuality, treating the matter seriously, adopt the fashion and become again absurd. What hope, therefore, can there be for national artistic culture when the whole nation have condemned themselves, with exultation, to a personal neglect of art in things that constantly concern them? Throughout Christendom there is now no popular condition fit for the development and growth of the vernacular in art. The spurious aestheticism that occasionally manifests itself in a sporadic way is but a canting form of fashion, to which those afflicted with the added weakness of conceit occasionally succumb. It leaves them in due time at once ridiculous and hopeless of improvement.

Wednesday, August, 19 will be a gala day at Mayflower Park, when the annual picnic will be given by Division No. 3, A. O. H. During the past few days the arrangement committee have been at work making final plans. The picnic will be an all day affair and outdoor entertainments of a various nature will be indulged in, while dancing will probably be the closing feature. The main attraction, however, will be something out of the usual order. Politics will be discussed by able speakers, and the gold and silver men will both hear their sides presented. For the free silver side, that eminent lawyer W. C. Silvertorn, of Wausau, a possible candidate for governor on the democratic ticket, has been invited, and has notified the committee that he will accept. Other arrangements have not yet been completed.

"While it is not fully decided to have a speaker talk in favor of the gold standard too," said one of the managers of the picnic this morning, "I think that is the proper thing to do, and I think it will be done. Mr. Silvertorn has accepted, so he will be here anyway."

HAIL STORM WENT IN A STREAK

Its Track Was From Half a Mile to a Mile Wide.

Most of the tobacco dealers have taken a survey of the section visited by hail today, during the week, and from their reports have gathered that the territory covered by the storm extends from five to six miles east and west and varying from half to a mile in width. The storm, the Edgerton Reporter says, started a little West of Leyden postoffice, four miles northwest of Janesville, taking an easterly course across the town of Janesville into Harmony and Milton. It is estimated that not much more than 100 acres of growing tobacco lay in the track of the hail storm, and only portions of this have been entirely ruined. The loss to individual growers will, of course, be considerable, but the damage to the crop as a whole in the state will not figure materially. Most of the growing leaf is far enough advanced to be ruined by severe hail, such as fell in some localities in the line of this storm. According to estimates, about 700,000 farmers are now engaged in producing tobacco in this country.

"HEART DEPTHS."

O, priceless depths of the human heart, into which we may never look, Rarest gems we might possess, From this wonderfully hidden book, Deeper than all the depths of the sea, Containing secrets centuries old, Sacred forever, if its pulses are still, For dead heart leaves never unfold.

Loves have burned out, grown cold and dead Never once dreamed of, none ever knew, Innocents suffered the torments of hell, Died accursed though pure and true, Wives forsaken for just a doubt, Children denied, though truth revealed; Homes despoiled, souls bleeding from wounds, That one glance in the heart depths might have healed.

O, priceless depths of human heart— Into which we may never look. There is one that knows what is best for us; He has read every page of the book. There was never a heart He did not see Into its deepest depths quite plain; That may be the reason we are not to know What might bring us more grief and more pain. EIBBA DROF.

DEATH ENDS EARTHLY WOES

James B. McGowan.

James B. McGowan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McGowan, died at his home in Minneapolis, at 7:50 o'clock last evening, of dropsy of the heart, aged forty-one years. The sad news came to Janesville in the form of a telegram to E. D. McGowan, who was greatly shocked to hear of his brother's demise.

Mr. McGowan had been a tireless worker, and had been compelled, last fall, to go south for his health, which had been undermined by too close attention to his duties as instructor for the Inter-urban street railway of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Locating at Atlanta, Georgia, he held a similar position with the Atlanta street railway company. When spring came he returned to Minneapolis, and resumed his old position, but was soon forced to give up active work. He then grew gradually worse, until dropsy of the heart developed, and the end came. E. D. McGowan had visited his brother but a short time ago, and was preparing to pay him another visit when the telegram came announcing his death. Beside his parents, Mr. McGowan leaves a brother, E. D. McGowan, of this city, a sister, Mrs. C. F. Niles, of Menominee, Wis., and a wife and two children.

ENGINEER WARREN WAS STARTLED.
Remarkably Close Call For a Fatal Accident on a Bridge.

Engineer Charles Warren, of this city, felt his heart come up in his throat yesterday. Engineer Warren's train was crossing a trestle work fifty feet high, which spans a creek about two miles from Monroe. Engineer Warren discovered a woman walking upon the track about half way across. He blew the whistle, but the woman could not get out of the way. Realizing her danger, however, she swung herself off the side of the bridge, and hung on until the train had passed. The pilot brushed her clothes as the train sped by, so close was she to the rails.

FORTY YEARS

OF SUFFERING FROM PILES.

Remarkable Cure of Popular Major Dean, of Columbus, Ohio.

People who suffer from that annoying and obstinate disease will be gratified to learn that science has discovered a safe, convenient and simple cure for every form of piles, as the experience of the popular Major Dean, of Columbus, Ohio, amply attests. The Major says: I would like to add my name to the thousands who have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure. I know from experience that it is the only remedy on earth that will effectually cure piles; plenty of remedies give relief for a time, but as for a lasting cure I had tried all the salves, lotions, etc., without success. Six boxes of the Pyramid Pile Cure entirely removed all traces of a case of piles of forty years standing.

You may rest assured that the Pyramid Pile Cure has no stauncher advocate than myself.

I feel that it is my duty to allow you to use my name in any way you may see fit, in order that other sufferers may thus be directed to what I feel certain will be speedy relief and cure.

The Pyramid Pile Cure gives instant relief and a permanent cure in all kinds of blind, bleeding, itching piles.

It is absolutely free from opiates, cocaine and similar poisons, so common in pile cures.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00.

A book on cause and cure of Piles will be sent free by addressing the Pyramid Co., Albion, Mich.

THE COUNTY TICKET.

In every part of the county the ticket named by the Janesville county convention has been endorsed. The division of honors on geographical lines is far evener than had been expected, and the general make-up of the ticket is admirable. Five of the candidates are men who have proven their worth by faithful service. W. J. McIntyre, O. D. Rowe, W. A. Jackson, T. W. Goldin and O. G. Bleedorn, would be sure of reelection on their official records alone, even were they not so widely and favorably known personally. As for the men who are on the ticket this year for the first time, each of their names is a source of strength.

T. L. Acheson's selection for the post of sheriff was particularly fitting. It was a recognition by the convention of the value of police experience in the sheriff's office. Mr. Acheson has been a prominent figure in the police affairs of the county for years and has shown discretion, courage and absolute integrity. The enthusiastic support given him by his friends in the preliminary canvass will find a parallel in the support given by all parts of the county in November.

A. S. Thorpe, who was named for treasurer, gained much support through representing the northern assembly district; but his qualities as business man and citizen might well have prevailed had geographical lines not been in his favor. A campaigner of eloquence and enthusiasm was added to the ticket in C. I. Sloan; and the boast that the 1896 ticket should be without a weak spot was made good.

HALF WAY TO REPUTATION.

The favorite argument of free silver men is that fifty-three cents worth of gold will buy as much wheat, cotton and corn as it would twenty years ago and that the man who lent his neighbor a dollar twenty years ago will not be defrauded by being paid back now with a silver dollar worth only fifty-three cents in gold.

One grave objection to this argument is that the advocates of free silver coinage do not propose to make any distinction between debts contracted at one time and those contracted at another. The purchasers of United States bonds, for example, who gave gold coin for them, only last February, are to receive silver dollars in return, just the same as those who bought them and paid for them in 1879 or earlier. Mortgages, notes, and other debts contracted in the purchase of land and property today are to be treated just as if twenty or more years old. The Chicago platform makes no distinction but cuts all down to the same level.

Apart from this injustice, which even the silverite must admit to be such, there is no sound reason in morals for tampering with contracts to pay money, no matter when they were made. Nobody pretends that since 1873, at least, a dollar in "lawful money of the United States" has not meant a dollar in gold or its equivalent. Long before the resumption of specie payment congress gave notice of its intention to redeem the greenbacks in coin, and when, in 1879, redemption began, the only coin in use was either gold coin or silver dollars equal to gold. No man who bought a farm or paid for it in cash since 1873 pretends now that he was defrauded. He made his bargain, knowing all the facts, and he has no claim upon the seller for the return of any part of his money. Nor was he defrauded if instead of paying the money he merely gave his promise to pay it at a future day. Because when the day of payment arrives he finds he has made a bad bargain, it does not give him the right to repudiate it and to offer 53 per cent. of the nominal amount of his debt as payment in full.

Besides this, the creditor did not agree to accept wheat, cotton, or anything else except money for the money he lent. He expressly protected himself against the possible depreciation of commodities by stipulating for "dollars" just as the debtor protected himself against their appreciation by the same stipulation. We have never yet heard the argument made that if wheat or cotton had risen in value the debtor ought to pay his creditor more dollars than he agreed to pay, and because wheat and cotton have fallen, it is no reason why he should pay less. The truth is that a creditor is just as much entitled to the increased value of his money, if there is any increase, when he comes to be paid off, as the debtor is entitled to the increased value of the property for which he incurred the debt. The idea that the creditor is to receive only the value of his money at the time he lent it, and that this value is to be arbitrarily estimated in certain commodities, without his consent, has no moral foundation. One man has land and another man wants to buy it. They make their terms, and honesty requires that both should stick to them. The seller must give a good title to the land and the buyer must pay the number and kind of dollars he agreed to pay. Any other rule would produce endless wrangling and confusion at all times, and the attempt to enforce it now by degrading the value of the dollar, is an attempt at robbery disguised under the form of law.

The political position of the administration relieves it of any unjust suspicion on account of its preparations for a large supply of the new one and two dollar silver certificates.

Mrs. Lease couldn't find excitement enough in the pulpit, so she will return the stump. There is no question about her peculiar style being better suited to the latter.

Tom Watson doesn't mind getting licked any more than a resident of the ever lands of the south does having a chill, he's so accustomed to getting it in the neck.

Bryan will have the double cross and thorny crown of defeat placed upon his brow by the intelligent and law-abiding citizens of the United States.

An honest policy has always characterized the republican party. That's why it is now fighting for honest money.

The gold democrats who want to put up a gold democratic ticket want to help Bryan, but to do it indirectly.

ON BY QUICK WORK IN THE CONVENTION

F. CARLE'S STRATEGY WON THE DAY.

Now the Adoption of Iron Clad Instructions by the First District Delegates Was Prevented—Side Lights on the Political Happenings of the Week.

This has been a lively week for Rock county politicians. Three district campaigns have been in progress and each hinged to a greater or less extent on the other. The selection of county officers and delegates to the state convention all had an effect on the canvass for assembly and senatorial nominations, and as a cheering side issue there was the three-cornered contest for the county chairmanship. The feature of the first assembly district convention was the bit of strategy by which headed off the instructing of delegates. The convention was wholly for La Follette and the only question was whether the delegates sent to Milwaukee should be left free to exercise their judgment. Under the resolution finally adopted "recommending" work for La Follette, this will be the case.

His Plan Succeeded
W. F. Carle, who opposed instructions, saw before the convention met that he was in a hopeless minority. He planned to accomplish by strategy what he could not do by force. When I. C. Brownell's resolution instructing delegates for La Follette was offered, Mr. Carle moved as an amendment that the delegates be left free. There was a sharp debate but it was apparent from the first that the amendment would be lost. Mr. Carle put on a resigned look and nudged the delegate next to him.

"You might as well move that my amendment be laid on the table," he said submissively.

The motion to table was put through in triumph, no one voting against it. Then an attempt was made to adopt the original motion.

"Why, you cant not that, suggested Mr. Carle. 'The vote to table an amendment carries the original motion with it'."

The chair supported Mr. Carle's point and the only thing left was to adopt "recommendations."

A Sixteen to One Shot.

When the recommendations were being adopted there was another interchange. The ayes sounded out in a chorus, while Mr. Carle, still firm in the belief that Rock county had everything to lose and nothing to gain by instructions, shouted "No." The delegates laughed and a Fifth ward man called out "sixteen to one."

"But the one is gold and the sixteen are silver," shot back Mr. Carle amid an outburst of applause.

In the county convention Silas Menzies made a hit by his eloquent speech nominating "the man whom Rock county's representative agriculturists, in convention assembled, have voted to be the wisest farmer of them all; that stalwart representative of the town of Harmony, whose zeal for republicanism makes him ready to speak for it amid any surroundings and in any company—that stalwart of stalwarts, Charles I. Sloan."

MAY POSTPONE THE BIG PICNIC

Union Gathering May Give Way to the State Republican Rally.

The union picnic of the Old Settlers', Soldiers' and Sailors' Association; and the Thirtieth Wisconsin Regiment Association, which has been planned to take place in this city on August 19, may yet be declared off, because of the big republican meeting in Milwaukee August 18 and 19, at which McKinley and Harrison are expected to speak. The speakers who are engaged for the picnic want to be present at the big political gathering, so the picnic may be postponed. The matter has not yet been definitely settled.

EUGENE T. FISH,

ARMORY BLOCK FIRE STARTED BY BRANDY

LIGHTED MATCH HELD NEAR BUNG HOLE.

J. L. Kilmer and Henry Jarvis Painfully Scorched and the Destruction of a Well Known Milwaukee Street Structure Threatened—Gasoline Stove Helps Spread Flames.

A lighted match held near the bung-hole of a keg of brandy caused a fire that threatened the Armory block this morning. W. J. Hemming had been measuring the stock of wines and liquors in Kilmer & Rood's saloon—the old Toole & Richardson stand. He left and J. L. Kilmer was putting the barrels away. The brandy keg stood open and Kilmer tried to look into it. He lighted a match. The next moment he was blown half way across the room by an explosion, his mustache and eyebrows were scorched and his face blistered. The vapor from the brandy had caught fire and was burning fiercely. Although painfully burned Kilmer picked up the keg and ran outdoors. When he got back the tank of a small gasoline stove was afire, the woodwork was burning and Martin Rood, Henry Jarvis and Patsey Griffin, who had been in the front room, were carrying water.

The fire gained headway rapidly among the liquor barrels in the back room of the saloon. A red tongue of flame streamed through the side door and up the Armory block wall destroying the casements overhead. It seemed almost certain that another moment would see the flames drawn up the back stairway and through the upper floors, but the fire department streams prevailed, and the blaze died as rapidly as it had grown.

Kilmer & Rood suffered a loss of $500 on stock and $350 on fixtures and furniture. They had no insurance. All four of the men who were in the saloon when the explosion occurred were scorched, but Kilmer and Jarvis showed the marks most plainly. Jarvis' beard was crisped down, the skin and his face was badly swollen.

Hayes Bros. who owns the Armory block, suffered a loss of about $200 with ample insurance.

THE DEAREST ONE IN ALL THE EARTH.

Mother.
In line or language there is no other
Word that tells so clear a story
Of life and love and living glory
Like that sweet word,
So often heard
And yet so little known
Until into our soul life grown,
As that which names the precious one
Who only knows her duty done
When she has folded to her breast
Her offspring for a longed for rest:
She who has fought the prize to win
For a noble life and an entering in
Through the gates of heaven,
By promise given,
Of yielded life for love, of love for love,
For bringing blessings from above,
Lifting her offerings up on high,
Ready for this to do and die.
And this brief verse
Would faint rehearse
The virtues and the modest worth
Of the dearest one in all the earth,
Mother.

HIS CHANCE IN LIFE.

Miss Vezzis came from across the border line to look after some children who belonged to a lady until a regularly ordained nurse could come out. The lady said Miss Vezzis was a bad, dirty nurse and inattentive. It never struck her that Miss Vezzis had her own life to lead and her own affairs to worry over, and that these affairs were the most important things in the world to Miss Vezzis. Very few mistresses admit this sort of reasoning. Miss Vezzis was as black as a boot, and to our standard of taste hideously ugly. She wore cotton print gowns and bulged shoes, and when she lost her temper with the children she abused them in the language of the border line—which is part English, part Portuguese and part native. She was not attractive, but she had her pride, and she preferred being called "Miss Vezzis."

Every Sunday she dressed herself wonderfully and went to see her mamma, who lived for the most part on an old cane chair in a greasy tussur silk dressing gown and a big rabbit warren of a house full of Vezzisses, Perciras, Ribieras, Lisboas and Gonsalveses, and a floating population of loafers, besides fragments of the day's bazaar, garlic, stale intestine, clothes thrown on the floor, petticoats hung on strings for screens, old bottles, pewter crucifixes, dried immortelles, pariah puppies, plaster images of the Virgin, and hats without crowns. Miss Vezzis drew 20 rupees a month for acting as nurse, and she squabbled weekly with her mamma as to the percentage to be given toward housekeeping.

When the quarrel was over, Michele d'Cruze used to shamble across the low mud wall of the compound and make love to Miss Vezzis after the fashion of the border line, which is hedged about with much ceremony. Michele was a poor, sickly weed and very black, but he had his pride. He would not be seen smoking a huqa for anything, and he looked down on natives as only a man with seven-eighths native blood in his veins can. The Vezzis family had their pride too. They traced their descent from a mythical plate layer who had worked on the Sone bridge when railways were new in India, and they valued their English origin. Michele was a telegraph signaler on 35 rupees a month. The fact that he was in government employ made Mrs. Vezzis lenient to the shortcomings of his ancestors.

There was a compromising legend—Dom Anna, the tailor, brought it from Poonani—that a black Jew of Cochim had once married into the D'Cruze family, while it was an open secret that an uncle of Mrs. d'Cruze was at that very time doing menial work connected with cooking for a club in southern India! He sent Mrs. d'Cruze 7 rupees 8 annas a month, but she felt the disgrace to the family very keenly all the same.

However, in the course of a few Sundays Mrs. Vezzis brought herself to overlook these blemishes and gave her consent to the marriage of her daughter with Michele, on condition that Michele should have at least 50 rupees a month to start married life upon. This wonderful prudence must have been a lingering touch of the mythical plate layer's Yorkshire blood, for across the border line people take a pride in marrying when they please—not when they can.

Having regard to his departmental prospects, Miss Vezzis might as well have asked Michele to go away and come back with the moon in his pocket. But Michele was deeply in love with Miss Vezzis, and that helped him to endure. He accompanied Miss Vezzis to mass one Sunday, and after mass, walking home through the hot stale dust with her hand in his, he swore by several saints—whose names would not interest you—never to forget Miss Vezzis, and she swore by her honor and the saints—the oath runs rather curiously, "In nomine sanctissime"—(whatever the name of the saint is) and so forth, ending with a kiss on the forehead, a kiss on the left cheek, and a kiss on the mouth—never to forget Michele.

Next week Michele was transferred, and Miss Vezzis dropped tears upon the window sash of the "intermediate" compartment as he left the station. If you look at the telegraph map of India, you will see a long line skirting the coast from Backergunge to Madras. Michele was ordered to Tibasu, a little suboffice one-third down this line, to send messages on from Berhampur to Chicacola, and to think of Miss Vezzis and his chances of getting 50 rupees a month out of office hours. He had the noise of the bay of Bengal and a Bengali baboo for company—nothing more. He sent foolish letters, with crosses tacked inside the flaps of the envelopes, to Miss Vezzis.

When he had been at Tibasu for nearly three weeks, his chance came.

Never forget that unless the outward and visible signs of our authority are always before a native he is as incapable as a child of understanding what authority means or where is the danger of disobeying it. Tibasu was a forgotten little place with a few Orissa Mohammedans in it. These, hearing nothing of the collector sahib for some time and heartily despising the Hindoo subjugate, arranged to start a little Mohurum riot of their own. But the Hindoos turned out and broke their heads. When, finding lawlessness pleasant, Hindoos and Mohammedans together raised an aimless sort of Donnybrook just to see how far they could go. They looted each other's shops, and paid off private grudges in the regular way. It was a nasty little riot, but not worth putting in the newspapers.

Michele was working in his office when he heard the sound that a man never forgets all his life—the "ah yahl!" of an angry crowd. (When that sound drops about three tones and changes to a thick, droning ut, the man who hears it had better go away if he is alone.) The native police inspector ran in and told Michele that the town was in an uproar and coming to wreck the telegraph office. The baboo put on his cap and quietly dropped out of the window, while the police inspector, afraid, obeying the old race instinct, which recognizes a drop of white blood as far as it can be diluted, said, "What orders does the sahib give?"

The sahib decided Michele. Though horribly frightened, he felt that for the hour he, the man with the Cochim Jew and the menial uncle in his pedigree, was the only representative of English authority in the place. Then he thought of Miss Vezzis and the 50 rupees, and took the situation on himself. There were seven native policemen in Tibasu, and four crazy smoothbore muskets among them. All the men were gray with fear, but not beyond leading. Michele dropped the key of the telegraph instrument and went out at the head of his army to meet the mob. As the shouting crew came round a corner of the road he dropped and fired, the men behind him loosing instinctively at the same time.

The whole crowd—curs to the backbone—yelled and ran, leaving one man dead and another dying in the road. Michele was sweating with fear, but he kept his weakness under, and went down into the town past the house where the subjugate had barricaded himself. The streets were empty. Tibasu was more frightened than Michele, for the mob had been taken at the right time.

Michele returned to the telegraph office and sent a message to Chicacola asking for help. Before an answer came he received a deputation of the elders of Tibasu, telling him that the subjugate said his actions generally were "unconstitutional" and trying to bully him. But the heart of Michele d'Cruze was big and white in his breast because of his love for Miss Vezzis, the nurse-girl and because he had tasted for the first time responsibility and success. Those two make an intoxicating drink, and have ruined more men than ever has whisky. Michele answered that the subjugate might say what he pleased, but until the assistant collector came the telegraph signaler was the government of India in Tibasu, and the elders of the town would be held accountable for further rioting. Then they bowed their heads and said, "Show mercy!" or words to that effect, and went back in great fear, each accusing the other of having begun the rioting.

Early in the dawn, after a night's patrol with his seven policemen, Michele went down the road, musket in hand, to meet the assistant collector who had ridden in to quell Tibasu. But in the presence of this young Englishman Michele felt himself slipping back more and more into the native, and the tale of the Tibasu riots ended, with the strain on the teller, in a hysterical outburst of tears, bred by sorrow that he had killed a man, shame that he could not feel as uplifted as he had felt through the night, and childish anger that his tongue could not do justice to his great deeds. It was the white drop in Michele's veins dying out, though he did not know it.

But the Englishman understood, and after he had schooled those men of Tibasu and had conferred with the subjugate till that excellent official turned green, he found time to draft an official letter describing the conduct of Michele, which letter filtered through the proper channels, and ended in the transfer of Michele up country once more on the imperial salary of 66 rupees a month.

So he and Miss Vezzis were married with great state and anciancity, and now there are several little D'Cruzes sprawling about the verandas of the central telegraph office.

But if the whole revenue of the department he serves were to be his reward, Michele could never, never repeat what he did at Tibasu for the sake of Miss Vezzis the nurse-girl. Which proves that, when a man does good work out of all proportion to his pay, in seven cases out of nine there is a woman at the back of the virtue.

The two exceptions must have suffered from sunstroke.—Rudyard Kipling.

Judges of the Olympic Games.

The hellanodae, or judges, were ten in number, selected by lot from the ten tribes of Elis. They entered upon their office ten months before the festival. They were first schooled in the traditions and regulations of the games, then studied the capacities of the athletes while they were still in training. They had to decide upon the qualifications of the contestants, make up the programme of the games, supervise the preparation of the scene of contest, act as judges in the games, and distribute the prizes. It was a position of honor and distinction. They came to the contest clad in purple robes, and sat in a tribune opposite the finish of the races in the stadium or hippodrome. They seem to have subdivided the function of judging, but at least three were present to judge in every contest. Their decisions were usually final, but an appeal might be carried to the Olympic senate. They were assisted in the execution of their commands by a large and well organized body of police.—Professor Allan Marquand in Century.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples and blotches.

Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood. THE STUDIOUS GIRL.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM A YOUNG LADIES' COLLEGE.

Race Between the Sexes for Education. Health Impaired by Incessant Study.

The race between the sexes for education is to-day very close.

Ambitious girls work incessantly over their studies, and are often brought to a halt, through having sacrificed the physical to the mental.

Then begin those ailments that must be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, dizziness, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, nervousness and blues, with lack of confidence; these are positive signs that women's arch enemy is at hand.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Pinkham in May, one month after the young lady had first written, giving symptoms, and asking advice. She was ill and in great distress of mind, feeling she would not hold out till graduation, and the doctor had advised her to go home.

College, Mass.

My dear Woman:—

I should have written to you before, but you said wait a month. We are taught that the days of miracles are past. Pray what is my case? I have taken the Vegetable Compound faithfully, and obeyed you implicitly and, am free from all my ills. I was a very, very sick girl. Am keeping well up in my class, and hope to do you and myself credit at graduation. * * My gratitude cannot find expression in words. Yours sincerely

friend, MARY—

P. S. Some of the other girls are now using the Compound. It benefits them all.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only safe, sure and effectual remedy in such cases, as it removes the cause, purifies and invigorates the system, and gives energy and vitality.

There is a right way to advertise any business, and it is comparatively easy to find this right way. There need be no unreasonable charges taken. The advertiser's problem is simply to get his story before the people who are likely to be interested—simply a plain, straightforward statement of what he wishes to do for them. To be sure it requires thought and judgment to do this in the right way, but no more than any other department of a business.

ATTACKED BY A 'POSSUM.

Its Adventures with a Congregation in Front of a Church.

A fat gray opossum, driven out of its lair in the cemetery in the Livingston Avenue Baptist church, darted into a crowd of worshipers just emerging from the front entrance of the church after the evening service, says a New Brunswick (N. J.) correspondent of the New York Journal. The opossum had lost its bearings somehow, and contrary to the instinct of its kind, ran right into a crowd of people instead of avoiding them. Feminine shrieks filled the air as the animal darted around the skirts. Those still in the church entrance, unable to find out what had happened, took up the cry and rushed back into the church. In another moment a dozen young men were striking furiously at the beast, but his mad charges among the women as he tried to escape only added to the excitement. Canes and umbrellas were soon swinging around so recklessly that one had to be alert to save his own head. The women ran across the church lawn into Livingston avenue, holding up their skirts and shrieking. People inside the church thought that some dreadful thing had happened. One woman climbed upon a fence on Welton street, which bounds the property on the east side. Several others ran across Livingston avenue to the portico of the high school. Meanwhile the 'possum was putting up the fight of his life against the whacks and kicks of a dozen excited men. One man attempted to jump on the beast, but the 'possum squirmed from under him with little effort. Every time the 'possum would attempt to escape through the legs of the crowd of men, who had formed a kicking, scuffling circle about him, he was kicked back into the center of the group by two or three booted feet on the outside. Maddened with pain and unable to escape, the little animal grew savage and sprang for John Fouratt. It fastened its teeth in the young man's leg, and strive as he might to brush the beast off, it clung there, while he danced about in great pain and fright, imploring some one to take it off. Then the canes and umbrellas fell thick and fast upon the 'possum, and, finally beaten into insensibility, it relaxed its hold. Then a curious crowd watched the animal for a long time, with the idea that it was "playing sly" and would run off as soon as it saw its way clear. A negro ended the excitement by cutting the possum's throat. Then he picked it up and started for home, happy in the expectation of a good meal. It is believed that the 'possum was blind.

SWORE AND SUNG "TA-RA-RA."

The Parrot Talked "The Language of a Bishop."

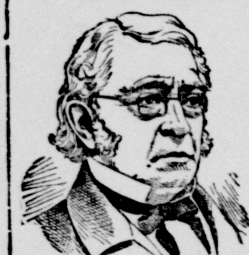

It is interesting to learn that the conversation of a bishop consists chiefly of Spanish oaths, pleasantly diversified by the singing of "Ta-ra-ra Boom-de-ay," says the Pall Mall Gazette. The episcopal apron must add quite a new charm to the dance proper to that song. But there can be no doubt about the fact, or Mr. William Foulger, ship's steward, when he sold his parrot for 30 shillings to Mr. Henry Lovegrove's solicitor's clerk, would never have guaranteed that it talked "the language of a bishop."

Henry was rather particular, because he wanted it for his lady love and he knew that the sailor's remarks are sometimes like his heart, which, the song tells us, is like the sea—ever open, gay and free—and he suspected that the bird had listened admiringly to the sailors coming across from South Africa. But an episcopal parrot sounded well. Unfortunately, Miss Nelson had resided as a governess in a Spanish nobleman's family and, therefore, understood what the bird said. When you come to think of it, this is rather a reflection upon Spanish noblemen's families; for the bird's talk was "simply sulphurous." As Miss Nelson truly remarked, Spanish is a very effective language for swearing in. She could stand "Ta-ra-ra," (hardly Miss Nelson!), but not the "swears," she had to leave the room every time.

And so Henry wouldn't pay his 30 shillings and William sued him for it at Shoreditch. It was agreed that both should pay their own costs and that William should have his right-reverend parrot back. What a pity he knows no Spanish!
